

TASK 4

DIGITAL LITERACY

Do's

- Maintain a Professional Public Image Assume that every post, comment, or share is public. Before hitting "post," ask yourself if you would be comfortable with a future employer or your professor seeing it.
- Perform Regular Privacy Audits Consistently review the security settings on all your social accounts. Ensure your personal updates are only visible to a trusted circle of friends and family.
- Curate a Professional Brand Use platforms like LinkedIn to highlight your academic projects, certifications, and volunteer experiences. Your profile should act as a digital resume.
- Monitor Your Search Results Frequently "Google" your own name. This allows you to see what information is publicly available and helps you manage or remove any content that doesn't align with your goals.
- Practice Mindful Posting Take a moment to reflect on the long-term consequences of your digital actions. A single impulsive comment can have a lasting impact on your reputation.

Dont's

- Avoid Unprofessional Media Never post or allow yourself to be tagged in content that depicts illegal activities, excessive partying, or any behavior that contradicts a professional student identity.
- Refrain from Academic Venting Avoid complaining about your university, instructors, or peers online. Negative posts about your institution can violate school policies and signal a lack of professionalism.
- Protect Your Real-Time Location Do not share your home address, daily class schedule, or live location. Sharing this data publicly creates unnecessary safety risks and opens the door to identity theft.
- Steer Clear of Online Conflict Resist the urge to engage in heated internet arguments or "trolling." Participating in negative or aggressive dialogue rarely ends well and can be archived forever.
- Don't Rely on Deletion Never assume that clicking "Delete" removes content permanently. Screenshots and web archives mean that once something is uploaded, it should be considered permanent.
